"So far as I am concerned, I make no distinction of persons or creed, but I will say that I think Dr. Parkhurst is bringing disgrace upon his cloth.
"So far as the crowd gathering in my precinct is concerned, I cannot help that I cannot prevent a crowd from gathering no more than I could prevent the lion in Eighteenth street from drawing the lion in Eighteenth street from drawing the lion. They enter police way, Dr. Parkhurst's agents seem to think they are lions. They enter police courts and obtain warrants, stare over the heads of people in a most offensive way, arm act generally as if they wanted to be attacked. How am I to help what follows?"

Later it was said that Capt. Devery and cant. Cresden had been summened to Police Headquarters. Afterwards several detectives left the building it is said to sift the matter.

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, who was ill and confined to bed vesterday from averwork, was up bright and early his morning. He had heard detailed stories of the assault on his agents last filth from the agents themselves as well as from Lawyer Moss. He had many callers this morning, some of them, it is said, being clergymen who heretofore have been takewarm in the cause. It is said that they are now willing to assist him. The Freshent of the raw and three Society laughed sarcastically when informed of Supt. Byrnes's investigation and of his suggestion that evidence of lawbreaking be submitted to him.

"What silly nonsense," he said. No, it is not nonsense, it is mor nonsense, it is worse. It is an ourrage. Suppose that no evidence of this attack upon our agents is laid before Mr. Byrnes, with whom I have no desire to enter into a controversy what then?

"Is it not a fact that time and time again we have gone."

"Is it not a fact that time and time again we have gone before him with evidence—bushels of it? What was the result? Does not the public already understand that the Police Department does not want us? Have they not said even through their Board of Commissioners, that they will hear no more complaints from us, that they will hear no more complaints from us, that they will hear no more complaints from us, that they will have more than a year nothing more to do with us at hil?

"My answer is that we have much to do with them. We are only beginning as they will find out before long.

"Such a little thing as this assault will not deter us. It makes us only all the stronger. The assault upon our agents speaks for itself. We have all along declared that the police were hand and glove with the thieves, thugs and law ingote with the thieves, thugs and law ingote with the thieves and law and the police were hand and glove with the thieves, thugs and law in the course of the city. So fat as Supt. Byrnes is concerned, no official report of the assault on Dr. Parkhurst's agents had been made to him. Capt. Devery says he has nothing to report and neither has Cart. Creecion, of the Mulberry street, or Tenth Prevails.
